Orchestra, Choir Combine For Eastertide Musical

An Easter season musical work will be presented in Provo, Monday, when the Brigham Young University Symphony Orchestra and the Salt Lake Tabernacle Choir combine to present Johannes Brahms' "Requiem." Monday's performance will be the second one for the "Requiem." It will be presented in the Salt Lake Tabernacle on Sunday by the same groups. The choir and orchestra will be assisted in the work by soloists Wendell S. Noble, baritone, and Ewan Harbrecht, soprano; and the BYU Madrigal Singers. Organists will be Alexander Schreiner and Frank W. Asper. Lawrence Sardon, BYU Symphony conductor, and J. Spencer Cornwall, Tabernacle Choir director, will share conducting honors for both performances.

Provo Performance
The Provo performance is set for 8:15 p.m. in the George Albert Smith Fieldhouse.

The "Requiem" was first performed in Bremen, Germany, on Good Friday in 1868, and has been one of the most popular Easter presentations ever since. Rather than a mass for the dead, it is an ode to the departed, consisting of Bible texts which assure a life hereafter. Its spirit is essentially one of peace and consolation. It is made up of seven numbers, two with baritone solo and chorus, one with soprano solo and chorus, and four for chorus alone.

Both the Symphony Orchestra and Tabernacle Choir are well-known performers throughout the intermountain west. The Tabernacle Choir is also world-renowned for its weekly radio broadcasts from Temple Square.

Baritone Soloist
Mr. Noble, baritone soloist for the performances, is a well-known musician in California. He is director of the 40-voice choir of Glendale West Ward, director of the 75-voice Glendale State Choir, and chairman for the forthcoming Southern California Music Festival in which 1500 singers will participate. He has done a good deal of radio and television work in California and is also the narrator for the painting, "The Crucifixion," at Forest Lawn in Glendale.

Editorship Application Deadlines Advanced

Students who wish to apply for the position of copy or business manager of the University or editor of the Wye magazine, for 1954-55, are requested to do by 3 p.m. Friday of this week according to Dr. Oliver Smith, chairman of the Student Publications Committee.

'Skin' Staging Will Be Held Till Saturday

'Man's struggle to survive through the ages of time—including the ice age, the flood, pestilences, wars, and depressions—is the theme of Thornton Wilder's "Skin of Our Teeth," being presented this week by the department of speech and dramatic arts.

The play opened last night in the Joseph Smith auditorium and will run through Saturday with performances beginning at 8:15 each night. Tickets are available at the Smith Information Booth. Students are admitted on activity cards and public admission is 75 cents.

Leading roles in the fantastic comedy are taken by John Whitaker, Joyce Goodman, Irene Fullmer, Darlene Worley, and Darlene Capron. There is also a large supporting cast, composed of BYU theatre veterans and a number of talented newcomers.

Dr. Preston R. Gledhill is director of the play and Shirlene Fisher is assistant director.

Election Booths Open Thursday, Friday In Science, Smith, Education Buildings; Aspirants Announce Their Platforms

Students go to the polls, today and Friday, to elect studentbody, AMS, and class officers for the 1954-55 school year. Voting booths will be operated in the Science, Smith and Education buildings. Two days of intensive campaigning ended last Wednesday evening. Victor will be announced Friday evening in the Inaugural Ball. Students must present their activity cards in order to vote. Election officials reminded students that in voting for class officers, they are to vote but for one set of candidates. Otherwise, their ballot will be void.

All students will vote for the studentbody candidates; men students only will register votes for Associated Men Students candidates.

Following are the platforms for the election finalists:

Lloyd George: "... I will do my utmost to represent you with the dignity and humility the position calls for. I will endeavor with all of my energies to discharge the duties of the office in a manner that will be satisfactory to all of you. I will do all that is in my power to perpetuate the spirit which has become so much a part of my life—the spirit of friendliness and equity, called the spirit of the Y."

Dick Oveson: "Student government must be prepared to deal with new problems. Legislative Council must be adapted to meet changing problems. The Cabinet must be put on a firm footing. The problems of the social system must be met. Students should have a say in both student budgets and scheduling. If we are to progress in these areas as we should, student officers who are familiar with existing problems and tentative solutions and who are aware of new developments are needed."

Dr. Woodruff Named Dean Of Humanities

A new College of Humanities and Social Sciences has been organized at Brigham Young University, to be effective autumn quarter. Pres. Ernest L. Wilkinson announced today.

Dr. Asahel D. Woodruff has been named dean of the new college. On leave of absence from BYU since 1952, Dr. Woodruff was formerly dean of the Graduate School. He has been serving as associate director of the U.S. Army Human Resources Research Office at George Washington University.

Second Step
Organization of the new college is the second step in a realignment of colleges at the university. Last week, Pres. Wilkinson announced the creation of a new College of Physical and Engineering Sciences.

Departments to be included in the new college are English, history and political science, journalism, sociology, psychology, archaeology, and modern and classical languages. These departments are now in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Vocal Concert To Be Given In Tabernacle

A combined vocal concert featuring soprano Adele Addison and baritone Lawrence Winters will be presented tonight at 8:15, in the Provo Tabernacle. This is another of the University-Community Lyceum series.

These two artists will combine for five presentations: Mozart's "Requiem" and "Duets of Figaro" and Susanna from "The Marriage of Figaro," Verdi's "Duet," "Tutto le feste al tempo" from "Rigoletto," five selections from "Porgy and Bess" by Gershwin; Bond's "African Dance" and Brown's arrangement of "Every Time I Feel the Spirit."

In addition, each will do a solo song. Carl Paerster, Brigham Young University faculty, will accompany the numbers on the piano.

Solo Groups
Miss Addison plans to do two works by Ernest Chausson, "Le Temps des Lilas," and "Les Papillons," two works by Strauss, "Die Nacht" and "Candle" and Julia Perry's arrangement of "Every Time I Feel the Spirit." (Continued on page 3)

Student Publication Will Feature Arts

An emphasis on the fine arts will be made in the Spring issue of Wye magazine, according to Richard Pope, editor. Arts to be featured are: dance, sculpture, music, and painting. In addition to the regular features of art and photography.

Another "first" for this issue will be the use of color. "Although color has been used in previous years, it is an innovation this year, and will add greatly to the appeal of the magazine," says editor Pope.

The cover contest winner will be announced in the near future. Material for the magazine was selected from the largest number of contributions received this year.

FIRST PERFORMANCE—J. Spencer Cornwall, Tabernacle Choir Director, will share conducting honors with Lawrence Sardon at Monday's performance of Brahms' "Requiem," at 8:15 in the George Albert Smith Fieldhouse. This is the first time that the Tabernacle Choir has performed on the BYU campus.

'Bunnies' to Hop At Easter Dance

"Bunny Hop" has been chosen as the theme of the Easter season dance sponsored by North Campus Branch, Saturday night at 8:45 in the Social Hall.

Gus Shields and his orchestra will supply the music for the sport affair. Price per couple is 75 cents. Intermission entertainment is planned, and a refreshment party of sandwiches and punch will be served.

Decorations are being planned on an Easter theme with bunnies and other symbols denoting the occasion. As in other dances, a coat checking system is being arranged for the convenience of those attending the dance.

Forensic Students Score Again In Western Speech Contest

Six Brigham Young University forensic students reached the semi-finals and finals at the Northwest T&A Speech Tournament, at Montana State University, Friday and Saturday, according to Dr. J. LaVar Bateman, forensic director.

In the men's debate, John Varner, Bill Skousen, Floyd Brown and Rex Lee were two of the four teams who reached the final round. Martha Mae Warner placed third in the women's oral interpretation.

Bill Skousen was one of the finalists in men's extemporaneous speaking. In men's oral interpretation, Albert Scenberg was one of the six finalists.

This meet was sponsored by Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary forensic fraternity, and two hundred and twenty contests representing twenty-six western schools participated.

The previously planned Stockton, California, meet was cancelled, therefore all teams went to Missoula. Others attending were Jerry Kindred, Nancy Briggs, Lee Peterson, Charles Cox, Charlynn Johnson, Marian Green, and Walter Webb.

Dr. Wilford Smith and Dr. Bateman accompanied the group, which left Thursday and returned Sunday.

Film Classic's Grapes of Wrath Portrays Migration Hardships

The 230th Century-Fox Academy Award winning film adaptation of John Steinbeck's best selling novel, "Grapes of Wrath," is scheduled by the Audio-Visual Services for the weekly film classic, Thursday afternoon and evening.

The two performances are scheduled for 4:15, in room 230 of the Physical Science building, and 7 p.m. in the George Albert Smith Fieldhouse.

"Grapes of Wrath" tells the story of the Joads, an authentic Oklahoma farming family, who lose their land as a result of the dust storms and drought of the Thirties. The hardships and suffering of this "Okie" family, as they wander from Oklahoma to California, powerfully portrays the social conditions that existed among the farming class during this era.

Henry Fonda plays Tom Joad and other leading roles are played by Jane Farrow and Paul H. Phipps. The film was directed by John Ford. It was released by Fox Film Corporation.

Taxes Cut to Limit Budget Deficient Reports Kennedy

The assistant to the secretary of the treasury, David M. Kennedy, told Brigham Young University students this week that taxes have been cut about as much as possible at the present

Speaking on the Executive Policy Lecture series, he stated "We surely cannot increase exemptions as has been discussed at the present time." His subject was "Treasury, Finance, Debt Management and Fiscal Policy."

Mr. Kennedy added that the United States would not reach a balanced budget soon. The estimated deficit this year is $3.1 billion and $2.9 billion in 1965.

The treasury department is endeavoring to decrease taxes as much as possible, he said, by cutting waste, payroll and expenditures. Mr. Kennedy stated that he expected a lightened tax burden within two years.

A native of Utah and First Counselor in the Presidency of the Chicago Stake, Mr. Kennedy is the father of freshman Carol Kennedy.

Women's Week to Introduce 'Hall of Fame,' Other Events

Women's week, which begins Monday, April 26, promises to be one of the biggest events of the year for Brigham Young University's near 3,000 women students.

Activities will begin Monday, with a fashion show. Attire ranging from sports clothes to wedding gowns will be modeled by BYU coeds.

Tuesday afternoon, women students will attend a Trousseau tea where future brides will receive helpful hints, and view slide displays. Material for these displays will be provided by prominent business establishments from Salt Lake City and Utah.

AZU-sponsored mad dance scheduled for Wednesday afternoon. Of special interest is the recognition banquet that will take place Wednesday night. Outstanding girls in various fields will be honored, and the gavel given to the new AWS president. One of the new activities which has been introduced into this year's program is the "Hall of Fame." The program will include special guest speakers, and the longest winners. This event will climax the 1964 AWS Women's week.

Members of the Junior and senior AWS councils are working as chairmen for the weeklong activities.

Inspector Named For Next Quarter

Dr. Laurence E. Morehouse, instructor in the field of physiology and kinesiology, is a recently announced visiting instructor for Brigham Young University's summer quarter.

A member of the faculty at University of Southern California, Dr. Morehouse will teach two graduate courses regarding problems in athletic conditions and applied science in health education.

A native of Danbury, Conn., Dr. Morehouse has written several books, articles, research reports and professional papers. He has done extensive work in aviation physiology.

A special consultant in the Bureau of Health, Education and Welfare, Washington, D. C., Dr. Morehouse is also listed in the American Men of Science.

TV Cramps Journalists With Tapes

by Vemo

Newspapers recently took an other belt in the broadcast amateur with the announcement their greatest competitive weapons—retention and reference—had been added to the arsenal of their chief antagonist, television.

Almost obscured in the flurry of speculation about color television was the information that television programs will soon be transcribed on tape (similar to record recording tape) by an attachment for receiving sets.

While You Were Out
This means that programs can be recorded for future playback so that subject matter can be analyzed and memorized. It also means that one program may be recorded while the viewer is watching another channel. By the use of automatic timing equipment, programs may be recorded even while the setowner is away from home, the recorder being turned on and off at the beginning and end of the program period.

Programs thus transcribed can then be viewed by running the tape through another attachment which will reproduce the program on the television set picture tube. Each television set thus becomes a home-movie projector and screen.

"Jiffify" following this announcement came word that a foremost movie personality was in the process of developing a telefilm lending library similar to "home-movie" libraries existent for many years.

Rental Rates?

This service will undoubtedly supply educational and entertainment films to those supplied by "home-movie" producers. In addition, it may transcribe copies of important or interesting programs, then rent them to individuals who might have missed the original broadcast; or who might want to re-show the program.

Possibilities, of course, are as extensive as the combined resources of all communication media. Micro-film libraries may well be incorporated into telefilm, enabling vast libraries to be brought into each home—with a minimum of space and maximum of ease in research and reading.

It may be the reader of the future will read photographed book pages on his television screen—with eye-ease colors employed in background and type.

BEST ASSEMBLY—The trophy for best assembly of winter quarter was awarded to the Val Norn and Viking social units, for their show "You're at the Y." Making the award is studentbody first vice president, Geraldine Edwards. Accepting for their units are Joyce Brockhead and Karl Snow, assembly chairman.

Exchange... Newspapers Note Pets, Campaigning

by John Wittorf
Universe Exchange Editor

Going through some of the college papers from around the nation, we've come up with the following notes:

There seems to be political news buzzing in the air at the U. too. According to what we read in the "Chrono," the next studentbody prey there may be a member of the fairer sex.

The petition entering Charlotte Zumino in the presidential race started out as "more or less of a publicity stunt or joke." However, "as the days wear on it becomes less and less of a joke. It looks like Charlotte Zumino is the strongest candidate now in the presidential race." More power to you, Charlotte.

The following was taken from the Minnesota Daily. "Some people keep dogs, cats, rabbits or parakeets for pets but a Centennial Hall student this week expanded the field to include a snake." (a 3 1/2 foot box constrictor).

It was the perfect pet. It never made any noise," the owner, son of a university regent, said. "The only care it needed was the one mouse a week it required for food. This was easily obtained from the university hospital's laboratories."

SOCIAL BRIEFS

by Gayle Bringham - Universe Society Writer

No more baggy eyes! Maybe students will be wider awake in classes now, but their attention will be divided between the final campaigning of this week and the old standby "Spring Fever."

The girls of LAMBDA DELTA SIGMA took part in the Songfest Friday night, singing "The Angels Lullaby" composed by Clela Johnson and directed by Louise Jackson. After Songfest they went to Louise's home for a slumber party. There will be a meeting tonight at 7 p.m. in 130 Smith building.

THE CENTRAL STATES' monthly friends will be held Sunday the 18th in Family Life No. 2 at 8:30. Pres. Harvey L. Taylor will be the speaker.

Mrs. Virginia Poulson and Mrs. Margaret Jensen were the guest speakers at the professional meeting of GAMMA PHI ONE CRON. Monday. Plans were made for a trip to Salt Lake City to the state Home Economics convention, which will be held at Hotel Utah, April 23 and 24.

HAWAIIAN CLUB will present shows in Grand Junction, Craig, and Denver, Colo., on their four day tour starting April 28. A show will also be presented in Laramie, Wyo.

BLUE KEYS and INTERCOLLEGIATE KNIGHTS will conduct a tour of Brigham Young University next Monday and Wednesday starting at 5 p.m. Students from Utah county seminaries will be on the tour. Apostle LeGrande Richards will address the students at 6:30, followed by a two-hour program featuring BYU talent, according to Ray Beckham of the alumni and public services office.

VAL HYRIC gives thanks to Devon Fife for his directing and Ellen Weaver for accompanying during songfest. Lorin Nichols' "Mystery of Love" was the song with which Val Hyric took third place. After the singing, a stag party was held for all members.

NAUTILUS members and Kappa Sigma from the University of Utah held an exchange Wednesday night.

IK Convention Is Attended By 18 Knights

Brigham Young University's Gold Y chapter of Intercollegiate Knights was honored at the fraternity's recent national convention by being awarded the national efficiency trophy, and having one of their members elected to a national office. The convention was held April 8-10 on the Central Washington College campus at Ellensburg under the auspices of the Claw chapter.

The efficiency trophy is awarded annually to the chapter selected as the most outstanding of the fraternity's twenty-seven chapters in the northwestern United States. It is a traveling trophy, and rotates after being won three times. Gold Y is the first chapter to hold the present trophy, since the previous one was retired last year by Brigham chapter of Seattle University.

Gold Y chapter also received the trophy that is presented annually to the chapter traveling the longest distance to attend the convention. The Y delegation of seventeen men traveled approximately 900 miles, and was the largest delegation in attendance.

Comprising the Gold Y delegation were officers: Glenn H. Miller, Joseph C. Hannig, J. Norman Smith, and Jack R. Grant; officers-elect: Lynn Stahel, Robert L. Harris, and Stephen L. Barrett; and Knights C. Kent Hitchcock, Wallace B. Brown, Larry Y. Garrett, Eugene L. Jones, Larry R. Kunz, Val J. Walters, Kenneth G. Cooper, Everett L. Hagerly, Fred Moir, and Richard A. Mendoza.

Starlight Gardens To Form Setting For Tausig Formal

Members of Tausig social unit and their dates will enjoy the illuminated panorama of Salt Lake and vicinity from Starlight Gardens at Hotel Utah where they will hold their dinner-dance Saturday evening.

At this, their 39th annual formal affair, the Tausigs will dance to Shelley Hyde's combo and the maltre chore will provide a buffet supper.

Co-chairmen Dick Miller and Loyal Hastings anticipate the presence of sponsors, Dr. and Mrs. Leland K. Baxter and Dr. and Mrs. Weldon Moffitt.

Brigadiers Title Annual Dance Spring Fantasy

With the picturesque setting of the Starlight Gardens on top of Hotel Utah, the Brigadier social unit will stage their annual dinner-dance, "Spring Fantasy."

Slated for this coming Friday, dinner will be served in a Smorgasbord style and dancing will be to Allen Frank's combo.

The time for starting the formal affair will be 8 p.m., according to Bob Frone, chairman, and Mel Jensen, Ingleswood, Calif., and Don Sheets, Ontario, Ore., committee heads.

Students' Art Work Exhibited
In Physical Science Building

The annual high school art conference will begin Saturday on this campus. It was announced today by J. Rinnan Andrus, acting art department chairman.

An exhibit of entries for the conference is now being shown on the mezzanine floor of the Physical Science building. All the works displayed were done by high school students. Only original work is being exhibited.

Students enrolled in 11th and 12th grades in Utah high schools are eligible to enter works in the exhibition. They will be judged, and exhibitors may qualify for a year's scholarship to BYU, four-quarter achievement awards, or art supplies. Prof. Andrus said.

After registration in the Education building, students will attend demonstrations, art reviews and in the afternoon will be taken on a guided tour of the Springfield art exhibition.

President Wilkinson explained that the new college will carry a heavy load of service courses. Technical areas will rely upon the departments of this college to supply the liberal arts background necessary for rounded education.

Educate Whole Man

"We do not want to train mere technicians," President Wilkinson said. "We must teach people how to live as well as how to make a living. There have been too many scientists in our nation who did not understand loyalty, and technicians who did not understand divine principles. With accent on this area as well as the technical areas, we hope to educate the whole man."

Dr. Woodruff said he looks to his new position as a challenge to bring all of the humanities into meaningful interrelationship, not only for broad and fundamental education of all students, but also to help each field investigate deeper into its own unknowns.

Research Director

An associate director of the Army project on human resources, Dr. Woodruff has supervised 240 persons in intensive psychological research into Army training programs. The work has included such studies as the use of television for training, the effects of fear on morale, and psychological backgrounds of various trainees' performances and problems.

Dr. Woodruff has studied at University of Utah, Denver University, and obtained the B.S. degree in 1936, the M.S. degree in 1937 at BYU in educational administration, and the Ph.D. degree in 1941 at University of Chicago in educational psychology.

From 1935 to 1938, he was principal of LDS seminaries at Escalante, Fillmore, and Price, and director of the LDS Institute at Ogden, 1942-43. He was a professor of psychology at Cornell University from 1942 to 1948, and has taught also at Utah State Agricultural College and University of Illinois.

Textbook Author

He is the author of two texts, "The Psychology of Teaching," and "A Study of the Directive Factors in Individual Behavior," and has written dozens of articles for technical journals.

TALE

by Ed King

Here are a couple of coaches' "I told you so" items that have come my way of late. The items concern those, two classy cagers, Frank Selvy and Cliff Hagan, who so impressed the fans at last Monday's GLOBETROTTERS College All-Star tournament.

Hagan wanted to do his college basketball playing at West Virginia. West Virginia's coach, however, didn't care for Hagan's talent and went so far as to advise Hagan to forget about college basketball. On the other hand, Selvy wanted to play for Kentucky. "Colonel" Adolph Rupp, Kentucky's coach, was, however, loaded with talent for his team and intimated to Selvy that he (Selvy) didn't have much chance of making his team. At any rate, Hagan wound up playing for Kentucky, and Selvy playing for Purdue University of Greenville, S. C. Outside of bringing to light a few red faces, the whole affair just exemplifies that the words "coach" and "vulgar" are becoming synonymous—in fact, some people suggest combining the two words into one—"coach."

"Little ole BYU," in spite of all his basketball obscurity, has at least drawn one faction of interest. That is a portion of the Y's team

Big Leaguers Rated

Early this year the major league baseball scribes got together and made some interesting observations and ratings of the major league players. The ratings ran something like this: best bench jockey, Robinson—Dodgers; earliest starter, Red Sox; biggest eater, Bertr—Yankees; best pinball player, Wynn—Indians; biggest sleeper, Slaughter—Yankees; most concited, Martin—Yankees; best dancer, Pan—White Sox; (ah—the next one is a good one with which to end, at least for BYU readers!) happiest marriage, Stanky—Cardinals.

Enter BYU Invitational Meet

The first batch of entries from high school and junior college track stars poured into the office of BYU invitational meet officials this week as prep and college performers from five western states prepared for the 41st annual event.

This year's Invitational, which is scheduled for April 23-24, is expected to draw a record number of junior high, high school and junior college trackmen who received invitations.

The prep and college boys will be participating in six different divisions in track, field and tennis events. The running of these events will take two days, with the winners being awarded medals in their respective events.

Big Names

So far no special events stars have been named, but Invitational director Edwin R. Kimball indicated the committee is looking for several key figures on the national track and field scene to pit against local talent. A distance runner and several standouts in the field events were being sought, Kimball said.

Radio station KBYU, 660 kilocycles, will present an exclusive re-created broadcast of the Brigham Young-Utah baseball game from Salt Lake City Saturday evening at 7 p.m., Owen Rich, station faculty adviser, announced Wednesday.

Here It Is Again....Cats vs. Utes

Fresh from a doubleheader victory over the Montana Grizzlies, Brigham Young's baseball team now girls for a Friday-Saturday home-and-home series with its arch-rival, Utah.

The Cougars and Utes will square off at 2:30 Friday at Provo's Timpani Park and at the same time Saturday at the Utes' field east of the stadium in Salt Lake City.

Coach Dave Crowton's Cougars, who demolished the Silvertips, 10-5, in the first game and barely squeaked by, 2-1, in the second, will be facing the team that all but ruined this same Montana bunch, 15-4, last Saturday at Salt Lake City.

Ute Aggregation
The Utah team, coached by Pres Summerville, should field the following team for the Cougar series, although no official announcement has yet been forthcoming: infield—Don Price at first, Lou Mele at second, Don Gels at shortstop, and Dale Bain at third; outfield—Paul Cook in left, Pete Dow in center, and Cal Drechsel in right; catching—Mickey Culeston. Pitchers are expected to be Doug Furlong and Gary Hoover, who worked against the Grizzlies last week.

Cougar Squad

BYU's lineup is also undetermined although the winning combination of last week is expected to prevail—Stan Glove or Keith Hart at first, Don Rignin at second, Phil Oyster at short, Tom Karren at third, Mac Madsen or Merrill Martiny in left, Ralph Morgan in center, and Dave Lewis or Walt Kelly in right, and Lynn Foster behind the plate. Pitchers figure to be Ray Lish and Morris Jackson or Lamar Williams.

Squads Compared

Comparing the squads in their victories over the common opponent last week, BYU got 11 hits in the first game and two in the second; Utah got ten hits in its single game. The Cougars committed four errors during the doubleheader; the Utes none in their single game. On the other hand, Montana committed six miscues in the Cougar doubleheader and eight in the Utah single game.

Other Skyline Play

Montana meets Utah Thursday at Salt Lake City, then travels to Logan for a doubleheader with Utah State in the only other action in the western division of the Skyline conference.

Horseshoe Hash.
The Utes' field in Salt Lake City is one in questionable condition for college ball. . . the left fielder must run uphill to chase a fly over his head and the right fielder runs downhill to chase a fly to his left. . . The stands (two small bleachers) are entirely inadequate. . . Dets Field, home of the Salt Lake Bees, would be worth the rental cost. . . Derka was used last year. . . Two night games are on tap for BYU at Timpani Park this season. . . May 8 versus Utah and May 14 versus Utah State. . . The nocturnal Aggie fracas is the arc-light end of a day-night doubleheader.

HUMBLE HUSTLES—Montana left fielder Clint Humble (11) takes throw from shortstop Phil Oyster. Action occurred in second game of Cougar-Grizzly doubleheader, which the Cats swept 10-5 and 2-1.

Kentuckians Lead Stars To Win Over Trotters

"The sun shines bright in my old Kentucky home!" That's the tune the coaches of the College All-Americans were singing Monday night after their team, paced by three members of the Kentucky's undefeated basketball team, came from behind to defeat the Harlem Globetrotters, 97-77, before 7200 fans in the George Albert Smith Fieldhouse.

Hagan Steals Show

Cliff Hagan, one of the Wildcats' All-American center, stole the entire show as he poured 30 points through the hoop. Hagan, only 6-4, rebounded constantly off both backboards and displayed a tremendous offensive array. His former teammates, Lou Tskoropoulos and Frank Ramsey, played magnificent ball, as did Furman's Frank Selvy, who scored 19 points, Brigham Young's own Dean Larsen, who came ninth, Western Kentucky's Tom Marshall, Rudy D'Emilio of Duke, Bob Leonard of Indiana, and many others.

Larsen, playing before the home folks, made four field goals out of five attempts, plus one free throw, and stole the ball from Leon Hillard, the Globetrotters' ace dribbler.

Tennis Players, Golfers Meet Redskins Friday

The tennis and golf teams of Brigham Young meet Utah's Utes here Friday. The golf matches will be held at the Timpanogas course at 1 p.m., and the tennis matches will take place on the BYU courts at 2 p.m.

The tennis team is considered to be strong this season and should make a good account of itself. With such returning lettermen as Bob Kirkpatrick, a third year member, Ed Pinegar, sophomore; Gordon Crandall and Jim Hill, junior lettermen; Kevin Watts, non-letterman; and Harold Christensen. Since both the Cougars and the Redskins beat Montana 9-0, it will be hard to tell who is the victor until the final match is over.

With only one returning letterman, the golf team may run into a little trouble, as it is rumored that the Utes are quite strong. Leroy Stickle, zone returning letterman; Kirk Bitter, who has had quite a bit of experience, along with Jim Bohannon and Richard Horsley will carry the Y colors.

Lockheed's Plant Facilities Toured by ROTC Cadets

To tour the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation plant and facilities at March Air Force Base was the purpose of 28 Brigham Young University ROTC cadets recently when they traveled to California.

Cadets were treated as officers at the base. They toured the Ground Training School for B-47 and K-97 air crews and maintenance men. Each cadet was permitted to sit at the controls of a B-47 simulator, an exact duplicate of the control cockpits of the aircraft.

While at Lockheed, they were conducted on a tour of the constellation and T-33 jet trainer plant.

Detachment officers accompanying the men were Lt. Col. Samuel J. Skousen, Maj. Ervin Ballie, and Capt. Robert P. Brady.

Cadets making the trip were Theodore Robertson, Ray Leavitt, Lamar Tweede, Eldon Fulker, Bert Swenson, John Woodward, Raymond Colovich, Roy E. Lawson, Jay Christensen, George Church, Kenneth Mason, Arthur Day,

Dixie Robison: "My goal is to stimulate more assemblies. . . I would also like to encourage exchange assemblies from other schools. I would like to see both AMS and AWS become stronger organizations working together to make the enlarged student body feel more a part of the school activity."

Sylvia Tyler: ". . . My aim is to improve the assembly quality as greatly in the future as they have improved in the past. Of equal or greater importance to me is the spirit of the Y. Its maintenance and promotion must be one of the prime objectives of all studentbody officers."

Ralph Boswell: ". . . I believe that we can raise the level of campus activities to a new height, and make more people happier by greater participation."

Norm Jackson: ". . . As second vice president, I would arrange for a well balanced social calendar. I would organize the dance committee so that dances would run smoothly and offer a variety of innovations."

Dale Laub: ". . . I pledge every ounce of effort and devotion to the office, feeling that with the help of the Lord and support of

Earl Seeks Talent For Coming Opera

All students planning to attend summer school and who would like to sing in the summer opera, or work on the production staff, should contact Dr. Don L. Earl, opera director, within the next week.

The opera has not been chosen. Dr. Earl stated, adding that the choice will depend on what students indicate a desire to be the opera. There is a possibility that a three-act, light opera, or three one-act operas will be presented.

Any student is eligible, and those interested should contact Dr. Earl's office in room 180 College building, or phone 2460, ext. 330.

The opera will be presented in July, during the first session of summer school.

Jack Zenger: ". . . I stand for greater strength through representation on the Executive Council. Many activities are sponsored in conjunction with AWS and we should seek for closer cooperation with them."

Roger Sant: "The position of business manager involves one of the most important student responsibilities on this campus, and it is my deep desire to be given this responsibility and fulfill it with efficiency."

Earl Seal: "In running for this position, I sincerely desire to serve you, the studentbody of BYU, to the best of my ability, exercising judgment and wisdom in honest endeavor."

Candidates for secretary are Naida Black and Nina Leishman.
